Conflict Minerals Statement

June 1, 2014

In response to the Dodd-Frank Act, Positronic Industries has undertaken steps to ensure that our actions do not contribute to human rights abuses or war and conflict in the DRC and surrounding countries.

Positronic Industries has taken the following steps toward 'due diligence'.

- a. Employees have been trained on conflict minerals.
- b. Minerals in question that are required in the functionality of our products have been identified and include gold and tin.
- c. Suppliers of these minerals have been identified.
- d. A country of origin inquiry has been made of our gold and tin suppliers and all have responded in writing that their minerals come from countries outside of the DRC and surrounding countries.
- e. These reports are kept on file.
- f. If Positronic were to find that our suppliers were to obtain gold or tin from the DRC or surrounding countries, we would not do business with that supplier in the future.

Positronic can confidently report that none of the products that we manufacture for customers contribute to human rights abuses or conflict.
